Heilkunst

Heilkunst is the art of making whole (healthy in all aspects mentally, emotionally, physically and spiritually). It is the full remediation of “dis-ease” by annihilating the cause/source of the “dis-ease”. Heilkunst is a scientific approach to medicine discovered by Dr. Samuel Hahnemann over 250 years ago, and is in fact the basis to our modern allopathic system of medicine. The patient is treated by utilizing their sequential timeline (a timeline of their life traumas and events physical, mental, and emotional) in order to gain balance and a deeper understanding of self, and one’s life purpose. This occurs by removing the obstacles to one’s state of health, the blockages, in order to experience life as God would have intended. Heilkunst helps the body, mind and soul to process events/traumas so that it can finally release those blockages and move forward with life. Heilkunst addresses both acute and chronic conditions and “dis-ease”. Nutritional/regimenal counseling is included in and a part of treatment.

Dynamic Live Blood Analysis

Dynamic Live Blood Analysis is the process of looking at both live and dried blood samples through the microscope in order to help the patient arrive at their optimum level of health. Through looking at indicators within the blood we can determine how well the body is handling daily stressors (such as environmental toxins, diet and lifestyle, mental/emotional stressors, medical treatments and procedures etc) and what needs to be done in order to bring the body back into balance. It is a preventative tool that is an extremely useful to bring the body back to its optimum state of functioning.

Dynamic Nutrition Counseling

Dynamic Nutrition Counseling refers to the process of understanding the unique way that each person’s body functions and works at its optimum. Various measures are then implemented in order to bring about balance and health in the patient. A number of methods are used in order to bring forth a deeper sense of health and well being including diet, lifestyle, exercise programs, herbs, minerals, vitamins and minerals, guided meditations and prayer.

~Initial Nutrition Consultation: $80.00

~Follow up Consultations: $60.00

~Homeopathic remedies if required will be charged at $7.00 each.

Scenar Therapy

Scenar is a biofeedback devise invented for the Space Station by Russia in order to give astronauts the ability to heal their injuries and stressors while in space without having to resort to medicines. Scenar is used to treat both acute and chronic conditions bringing about faster healing and regeneration of the area. Scenar also works very well at helping to release pent up emotions that are trapped in our muscles (like stiff necks and shoulders and sore lower backs), and to soothe coughs and lung irritations.
